The Food Network reached out to the Mile High city of Denver to pluck one of our own chefs, Chef Leah Eveleigh, to battle three other chefs in Cutthroat Kitchen, Season 2, hosted by Alton Brown. Chef Leah is not only the first Filipina chef to compete on Cutthroat Kitchen but is also the first chef to compete from Denver.

This is a reality-based culinary competition that pits the chefs against each other through cutthroat strategies, mind games and crazy sabotages dreamed up by host Alton Brown. It's a cooking show with many evil twists and turns.

This event is the official "Watch Party Nationwide" and "Viewing Party in Denver" where the results will be revealed to the public. Win or lose, this is an opportunity for Denverites to come together and cheer on one of our own homegrown chefs while celebrating the rich cultural diversity of this great city.

Chef Leah Eveleigh made her culinary debut at the Colorado Dragon Boat Festival as the first Filipino food vendor and then created Tropical Grill Catering. She's truly one of festival's success stories.

Join us as we eat and tweet this historic day (#cutthroatkitchen) with Chef Leah and help her represent the Denver and Colorado culinary scene!

Light appetizers will be provided and the restaurant's full menu and bar will be available.

About the Colorado Dragon Boat Festival

The Colorado Dragon Boat Festival (CDBF) was started in 2001 to celebrate Colorado's diverse Asian Pacific American (APA) communities, and now draws over 100,000 visitors each summer. The Colorado Dragon Boat Festival, a 501(c)3 non-profit organization, has become the region's fastest growing, family-friendly summer festival. CDBF offers festival-goers the opportunity to explore APA culture through performances, educational programs, arts and crafts, shopping, dining and the exciting athletic competition of dragon boat racing.
